

Taras Schevchenko Park, Kyiv

Taras Schevchenko Park is across from the university of the same name. Always well maintained and beautifully planted, it attracts students and office workers looking for a favorite place for lunch or a quiet stroll, as well as pensioners eager for a game of cards, backgammon, or chess. Two decaying buildings on Mala Zhytomirskaya that we have walked by a hundred times are finally being rehabbed. Looks as if they plan to keep the facades and build new structures behind them. Great moments is marketing: The restaurant sign for “Carcass”...
